Denmark's Wheat Import Policy

Agriculture in Denmark is based on animal husbandry and cheap feeding stuffs of which the domestic production is very small. The consumption of foreign grains, so that the number of farmers demanding low wheat prices is very much greater than the number interested in obtaining high prices for their product. The Canadian trade commissioner estimates that the farmers on 80 per cent of the grain area sell only 25 per cent of their grain for human consumption or industrial purposes. The Danish farmer is a buyer of fodder grain and feed stuffs rather than a seller. Only a small percentage of his grain is sold for bread making.

This being the case it may be that the Danish farmer does not follow the example of virtually every European nation and impose tariffs on imports of wheat or other feed grains. Nevertheless that country does follow the general trend but to a much lesser extent, the tax on wheat imports being around 30% (Canadian) a bushel. Denmark imports around 13,357,000 bushels of wheat a year, over half of which is a low grade used for feeding livestock. About 5% million bushels is imported from Canada and about six million bushels of rye for the same purpose. Furthermore an import license must be obtained from the National Bank. Wheat flour is also subject to import license and this is operated in such a way as to give a measure of preference to flour mills in Great Britain due to the desire of the Danes to buy as much from Britain as possible as that country is her best customer and has the most important adverse balance of trade with Denmark.

Prevention and Treatment of Colds in Poultry

(Experimental Farms Note)
In the fall and early winter extra precautionary measures are necessary to prevent the occurrence of colds in the poultry flock. Crowded conditions in the houses, lack of ventilation, dampness, dirty quarters, draughts, and sudden changes in temperature are the most common causes of this ailment. The common cold causes losses in the flock by interrupting egg production, and by predisposing the birds to more serious diseases that result in death. At the Dominion Experimental Farm, Brandon, Manitoba, the preventive measures used have been successful in avoiding serious trouble.

The common colds of birds as mentioned are avoided as much as possible. The over-crowding of young stock in their quarters is guarded against, draughts in the vicinity of the roosts are prevented, and care is taken to keep the houses and litter clear. Young birds that have been reared in the open are not closely housed without making adequate provision for ventilation. Occasionally individual birds will contract colds in the autumn on account of being exposed or on account of low resistance. Such isolated cases go unnoticed and unattended. The spread of colds by such individuals through the medium of the drinking water is reduced through the use of a mild disinfectant in the water. A few grains of potassium permanganate, sufficient to color the drinking water a deep purple is usually used for this purpose. Late moulting birds are kept in comfortable quarters until they get their new feathers.

A pen of birds that becomes affected with colds is first given a cold poultice of half a pound of salt, one-half pound of dried meat, and one-half pound of flour. A ten per cent solution of arsenic has been found a most effective antiseptic agent in treating colds in poultry. By the use of a medicine dropper, a drop of this solution is placed in each eye, each nostril, and in the cleft in the roof of the mouth. As much ventilation as the outside temperature will permit is provided, and the contact of affected birds with healthy ones is avoided as much as possible. Soft feeds such as dry and wet mashes, are largely employed for the affected birds.

There are other diseases, prevention rather than treatment should be the main objective. The extra attention required in safeguarding the flock from the common cold will accomplish much in preventing the diseases that follow in its wake.

GOVT PARTY HOLDS CAUCUS

EDMONTON Nov. 18th.—(C.P.)—Prepared to Grapple with thorny problems, the first Social Credit caucus in this city opened here this morning. Action upon a social credit plan is expected to hold an uppermost place in the discussions, while the government's proposals as to refunding the public debt of $155,000,000 and balancing the budget also will take up much of the time.

The caucus will last for two days at least.

Practically all the 56 provincial Social Credit members and the 15 Federal members are here for the caucus.

Premier Aberhart and R. J. Magor, Montreal actuary and industrial expert who is here to reorganize government departments and deal with means of balancing the budget, were the two speakers at the morning session. Hon. J. W. Hull, attorney-general, presided.

CROP TESTING PLAN

Over 20,000 farmers' fields of wheat have been tested under the above plan during this past month. Some 6,000 samples graded "A," indicating they were sufficiently true-to-variety to be used for seed. ## Difficult Problems

The problems which it may be expected will be discussed at the pending conference between representatives of the Federal government and premiers of the Canadian provinces will furnish plenty of material for conversations and negotiations.

If only one half of the difficulties which the western provinces have recently experienced and still are experiencing in finding sufficient revenue to maintain their ordinary services, to saying nothing of contributing substantially towards the cost of relief, can be removed a far worse step will have been taken, and representatives of the provinces will leave Ottawa with something a little more tangible than hope for speedy recovery and for future progress.

One of the factors in the present situation that will have to be faced squarely is the fact that the cost of government is pressing heavily on the taxpayers, that there is just so much money available for the upkeep of services and that a shifting of burdens from one unit to another is not the way out of the trouble, though it may be a temporary palliative.

If several buckets are dripping water out of a well which is not being replenished from natural sources it is only a question of time when the well will run dry, and in the long run it does not make very much difference which of the buckets took most of the water out of the well.

That is actually the position of the taxpayer in western Canada. There are three buckets drawing on his resources, the federal, the provincial and the municipal, the last-mentioned, of course, including the schools.

The permanent solution of the difficulty lies not so much in a decision as to who is to be allowed to draw the most, or the least, water from the well but how the well is to be replenished, and until this can be determined, those in authority will have to address themselves to the task of finding ways and means of conserving the presently available supply and making the utmost of it.

There are many ways in which a conservation policy might be put into effect and one of the most practicable would be to eliminate a good deal of duplication and overlapping of services which have grown up, apparently without any blame attachable to any one in particular for the situation.

There are, for example, services which are being provided by both federal and provincial governments resulting in double costs for machinery and operation, in addition to a degree of confusion and ineffectiveness attendant upon two unrelated organizations trying to reach the same good by different roads.

In this category might be included debt adjustment machinery and to some extent agricultural services rendered by both federal and provincial administrations. These are only cited as illustrations of a number of fields of endeavor in which co-ordination of effort by a merger of duplicated services would not only bring about greater efficiency but would also save considerable expense to the tax-payers.

It is true that in connection with these and other activities in the same category objection might be raised that dual services are essential because of the limitations of legislative competence, but if that is the sole barrier in the way of economy, then necessary legislative authority to dissipate the difficulty should be sought and the country could be secured if a spirit of true co-operation the part of all concerned is evidenced.

In the matter of sources of revenue also there is duplication which should be eliminated by a better defined allocation of spheres of taxation between the several governing units. There should not, for instance, be two income taxes with two sets of costly machinery to gather the same type of tax from the same tax-payers, necessitating a double expenditure.

In pre-war and pre-depression years the fields of taxation were fairly well defined and understood and governments, in those days, confined their revenue collection efforts within well defined channels. First departures from recognized practice and prerogative came with the emergency demands of the war and subsequently, as financial and economic stringency became more severe, governments were loath to abandon what they had gained.

On the contrary, the practice of encroaching on one another's sources of income assumed serious proportions as the level of the water in the well declined and the demand for more and more water grew with greater intensity.

With this situation confronting them, the participants in the conference will face a difficult task. While no doubt, many suggested methods for re-plying depleted incomes will be offered, first thought probably will be given to conservation of the existing resources, and one of the most practicable means of doing this will be to stretch the tax dollar by eliminating duplication. This can be done, not only without impairing the services involved but should result in improving them and at a lesser cost.

Cannot Get Italian Marble

League of Nations' sanctions against Italy have created an unusual situation in connection with the new League palace which was scheduled to be occupied in November. Most of the Rose marble used in construction of the palace comes from Italy, and much of it is still due to arrive. League sanctions prohibit the reception of goods under existing contract, so the League must look for its marble elsewhere.

Changes Into Parachute

Ingenious Balloon Used To Land Gondola Near Moscow

An ingenious balloon which in mid-air changed into a parachute made successful experiment flight near Moscow with two men in an open gondola, attaining a height of 16,050 feet. The sides of the envelope were then slowly opened out like an umbrella. As it changed shape the balloon began to descend but at a speed which never exceeded safe limits. When the craft landed it had the form of a huge parachute and set down the gondola with hardly a jolt.

Finds Blindness No Handicap

War Veteran Has Developed Memory To Remarkable Extent

Captain Gerald Lowry, a blinded veteran of the World War, recently was one of the champion pair at the British Bridge League Congress at Harrogate, England. His partner was a woman. Not only did they win but they were always the first pair to finish their hands.

Blindness has its compensations. Nature to some extent redresses the balance by developing other faculties. Captain Lowry is a remarkable example of overcoming the handicap and lives a more active and normal life than most people. He has developed his memory to such an extent that when a friend whispers the designations of his cards to him he remembers them throughout the game and where he has arranged them. When he has to play dummy, the cards are named to him and he remembers them, too. The rest is easy. During the tournament he played 32 calls and never forgot a card.

Captain Lowry before the war was an ardent golfer and amateur boxer. He still plays golf and boxes. He uses his own ball and drives by instinct. His candle tells him where his ball lies and where he should hit it to, and he never misses. He also learned osteopathy and has built up one of the most lucrative practices in London.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Began In Ice Age

Scientists Believe Recent Quake Originated 25,000 Years Ago

Persons whose sleep was interrupted by the recent earthquake may blame it on the great Ice Age.

It is at least 25,000 years since the Ice Age ended, scientists estimate, but it was these same scientists who fixed its date.

Dr. L. C. Conant, director of the Cornell University seismological station, explained the general theory of earthquakes in the northeast is the earth is gradually recovering from the burden of a sheet of ice one to two miles thick.

"The melting of this tremendous glacier," he said, "took a tremendous pressure off the earth's crust. Every once in a while the earth stretches back a bit, moving just a trifle up and northward." As a matter of fact, our instruments indicated there was a slight tilt to the north."

1935 Tobacco Crop

Valued At $8,000,000

Flue-Cured Tobacco Industry In Ontario Run On Scientific Lines

It looks as if the $8,000,000 valuation put upon the Ontario flue-cured tobacco crop by the experts will be exceeded by the value of the actual purchasing made by Canadian烟商 within the past few days.

Yet it is only a few years since tobacco-growing in Canada was practically limited to a few farmers raising it for personal use, for barter and for sale on approximately 30,000 acres of the best soil in southern Ontario are almost exclusively devoted to the growing of tobacco leaf in a scientific way, this year's crop having a yield per acre record, and having a selling-value $3,000,000 in excess of the crop return of 1934. The finest cigarettes and other tobacco products in Canada incorporate imported tobacco, and increasing quantities, where hitherto, American and other tobaccos had been used, while the Canadian leaf also has an excellent market in Great Britain in competition with foreign leaf.

The Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited, which buys a great part of the Canadian crop, has had much to do with the great strides made by the tobacco-growing industry in Canada in its policy for years of trying to encourage domestic production. First, however, it was necessary to gradually teach growers what and how to grow in order to meet public demand for a tobacco of our own, and other articles of the kind of substitutes and other conditions contributory to the best grades of tobacco, taught the grower on his own land by introducing experimental plots, and other ways interested in improving and increasing his crop for the uses of the domestic market. It also illustrated to him the precise processes by which the domestic market might be developed.

And the researches of government experts, combined largely to producing the present condition, and to the creation from a small and unmarketable crop, a large and marketable crop, valued at more than $8,000,000 a year.

The official edict has gone forth that the new styles for the ultra fashionable gown will not embrace any wasp waists. There will, though, be a sting in the prices.

Reform In Examinations

President Of University Of Alberta Would Make Entrance Less Rigid

Entrance examinations to the University of Alberta were in the process of being made less rigid and formal, Dr. R. C. Wallace, president of the university, told 200 southern Alberta high school teachers in an address. He called the final examinations "the bugbear of Alberta teachers."

Reform in examinations would be directed towards leaving the teachers free to express themselves individually and then giving some fundamental, broad test to students matriculating from high school to university, Dr. Wallace said.

"We are trying to achieve the aim at the university that every examination paper set shall have one or two questions which cannot possibly be answered by memorizing notes," he continued.

The university president read as an example of the type of examination he was proposing a set of four examinations presented by Alberta University authorities to determine a scholarship winner last year. They included general examinations to test knowledge in the fields of English, history, science and mathematics, having none of the formal type of examination question.

Expression of the teachers' personality must be made easier, Dr. Wallace declared, and lessening of the strict examination rules would be the most effective method of accomplishing this end.

All types of political and social theories should be taught in school, Dr. Wallace asserted, but teachers should keep their own personal bias on such subjects in the background.

Grows Rice For Export

Australia Has Developed New Industry In Ten Years

Australia, which ten years ago imported nearly all of the rice consumed throughout the Commonwealth, is now producing not only enough for home consumption, but it is a surplus for export. The 1934-35 rice crop of New South Wales yielded 35,000 tons of paddy rice, not including that retained for seed, according to the Agricultural Department of the Canadian National Railways.

Cattle Exports To U.S.

117,000 Head Shipped From Canada For First Ten Months

Approximately 100,000 head of heavy cattle have been exported from Canada to United States in the first 10 months of this year. Figures to the end of October reveal 117,000 head have gone over and it is estimated that 17,000 were calves. U.S. tariff on live cattle is three cents a pound when the animal is over 700 pounds and 2½ cents when below that weight. So a 1,100-pound steer would meet a customs duty of $33.

The year has witnessed an entire reversal in the export trade in Canadian cattle. Last year nearly all Canadian cattle exports for the first 10 months went to the United Kingdom. The total shipments were 46,500. For the corresponding period this year they were 6,500 whereas the shipments to United States jumped from 4,700 cattle and calves last year to 117,000 this year.

The reason for the shift was the shortage of beef cattle in the United States and relatively lower prices in United Kingdom market.

Would Conserve Game Birds

Visitor To Alberta Advocates Hunting With Hawks

Alberta offers an ideal place for the ancient and honorable art of falconry—the hunting of game birds with hawks—according to Capt. Luff Meredith, of New York.

First man to fly falcons in Alberta, Capt. Meredith was in Calgary after a visit to the Rosebud district, where he flew five birds—one an Alberta goshawk. He did not hunt game birds with his hawks, but flew them loose after pigeons.

The falconer advocates his chosen sport as a means of conserving game birds, at the same time aiding in the extermination of birds of prey such as crows and magpies.

"I believe the sport would be a great conservator of game birds in the west," he declared. "Unlike shooting, an entire party can share in the thrill of hawking."

If hawks were used generally instead of guns, the death rate among game birds would be cut to about one-tenth, he said.

Must Be The Climate

A report from Fort Erie, Ont., of a lemon nine inches in circumference growing on a plant in a home there is a "small potato story." Mrs. J. D. Gillock of Calgary, claims. She said she has a lemon tree that last year produced a lemon 17½ inches in circumference from which she made two pies and two glasses of lemonade. At present there is on the tree a green lemon, still growing, which measures 11½ inches in circumference.

A United States government scientist has advanced a theory that explosions in city sewers are caused, not by sewer gas, but by exhaust gas from automobiles, which is heavy and sinks into sewers.

John Timiko of New Toronto went to work at a factory with a clear conscience—then he paid back $1240 relief money he received in 1934 when he was sick and out of work. Relief officials said it was the first case of its kind in the history of the town.

London's Debt To Thames

City Is In Real Sense Founded On Ships

Its growth into the largest city of the country and of the world is owed by London to many historical accidents and to one very important fact—it's geographical position. The seat of government might have been elsewhere and London might have had to share its political ascendancy with Winchester or New York. But it was almost inevitable that a large trading community should be established around the lowest bridge on the Thames, which flows into the narrow seas leading to the Continent and to the world. The Thames is the root cause for London's existence, and the city is in a very real sense founded upon ships.—P.L.A. Monthly.

Eliminates Static

Boon For Radio Fans Is Seen In New Demonstration

Radio reception free from static even during thunder storms so severe that sparks leap from the antenna wire is the offering of Major Edwin H. Armstrong, professor of electrical engineering at Columbia University.

He demonstrated the new system before the Institute of Radio Engineers in New York. He described the effect as the same as sending one stream of traffic—the static—through an underpass while the desired signals went across the bridge. He said the secret lay in frequency modulation instead of amplification modulation, the prevailing system.

About 20 per cent. of the students preparing for the medical and dental professions in Germany are now women.

Mothers Aided by Guide to Better Control of Colds.

Practical Plan Is Helping Families Everywhere to Have Fewer, Milder and Shorter Colds.

SIMPLE AND EASY TO FOLLOW

Already, thousands of Canadian mothers are benefiting by following Vick's Plan for Better Control of Colds—proving for themselves that it is a practical home guide to fewer and shorter colds.

Here, briefly, are the three simple steps in Vick's Plan:

1. To Help Build Resistance to Colds Live normally—against excesses. Eat simple foods; keep your digestion regular. Drink plenty of water. Take some exercise daily—outdoors preferably. Get plenty of rest and sleep.

2. Help Prevent Many Colds

At the first warning, nasal irritation, sniffle or sneeze, use Vick's Va-tro-no!—just a few drops up each nostril. Va-tro-no! is especially designed for the nose and upper throat where colds start. Used in time, Va-tro-no! helps to prevent many colds—and to throw off head colds in the early stages.

3. To Help End a Cold Sooner

In colds develop earaches with a warning, rub throat and chest at bedtime with Vick's Vapo-Rub. VapoRub acts two ways at once: (1) By stimulation through the skin like a poultice or plaster; (2) By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapors, direct to inflamed air-passages. Through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action will soothe sore throat irritation, help break congestion. What Vick's Plan can do for you and your family can be proved only by trying it. Directions for following the Plan come in each package of Vick's Va-tro-no! and Vick's VapoRub.

MISS ALADDIN

—By—
Christine Whiting Parmenter
Author Of
"One Wide River To Cross"
"The Unknown Port," Etc.

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-deb, a gay, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care for her coming-out party. Her only desire is the marriage of her indulgent father loses all he had, and his family is faced with the necessity of simpler method of living. At the junction of the river, is a relative from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers the girl a home on what seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Sprague's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive at Pine Ridge. Nancy set out on her afternoon walk to the mountain trail, so as to obtain a view of the surrounding landscape and misses the path Aurora Tubbs had told her to follow. A track comes along the ridge, followed by Mattie, Adams, and the other girls, who have just come from school. Nancy has a good time, and having no books to read, the idea of starting a public library at Pine Ridge seems a good idea. Nancy writes home to get her parents' permission to start a library, and having no books to read, she stretches out both hands.

"Touch me, and see!"

CHAPTER XXIV.

Nancy's parents and friends gave their consent to the plan, and after Nancy and Jack leave for Pine Ridge, they are caught in a blizzard. Blinded by the swirling snow they collide with a bus full of school children, which was the cause of the accident. The children are resting in a snow-filled gully. Their car being wrecked, Jack and Nancy stay with the children and are rescued. All they can do is to help the party of children and Nancy are rescued. As a result of the exposure Nancy's feet are badly frozen and she is unable to walk. Adams and Mattie help to get them recovered. Now Go On With The Story.

Nancy started, smiling as she recognized the wife of the health-seeker on the back road, one of the library's most faithful visitors.

"Come in," she welcomed. "I'm leaving day after to-morrow and am glad of this chance to say good-bye."

The woman said, as she sat down in the cushioned chair: "That's why I came. I meant to stop at Miss Nelson's, but when I saw these open windows I knew you'd be here. I want to thank you for what you've done for—well, for every one in Pine Ridge, Miss Aladdin." She glanced up, her worn face lighted by a smile, while Nancy realized with something of a shock that this faded woman was quite young, probably not ten years older than herself. "Do you mind my saying, Miss Aladdin?" she questioned a bit shyly. "Sometimes I've almost wondered if that's what you are—a sort of magician who has worked miracles."

Nancy laughed, flushing a little too.

"It wasn't a miracle at all, if you mean library. It was only common sense and a bit of elbow grease!"

"No," answered her caller wisely. "It was more than that. It was thinking how you could make life happier for other folks. It's made all the difference between exile and home, to us!" she added. "My husband's better now, really better; and it's due to nothing in the world but having good books to read—something to take his mind away from himself and all our worries. Is it any wonder we think of you as Miss Aladdin?"

When she was gone Nancy sat there feeling strangely humble, a lump in her throat that threatened to grow bigger.

"I ought to have gone to see those people," she said regretfully. "I'll ask Matt to drop in on them some day. Why, the first time that woman came for books I thought she was older than Aunt Judy! Oh, why does life hurt some of us so cruelly?"

Rising with reluctance, Nancy closed the windows. This was her last visit to the library, for to-morrow she must give to Cousin Columbine. The girl stood for a moment looking off at the mountain; and suddenly she longed to view it once again from the hilltop under the old pine.

"I'll sneak up back of the houses," she planned, locking the door. "If Jack sees me he'll want to go along, and somehow I'd rather be alone. I can stay a half hour and get back before the Adams send for us. I do hope Matt will have cheered up by evening. I just can't stand the way his eyes look."

By skirting the village it was possible to gain the hilltop unobserved, but it was a steep ascent, and Nancy was breathless when, emerging from the woods, she started toward the ancient landmark. Then, as an animal will stop when suddenly alarmed, the girl stood still. Some one was there, half hidden by the gigantic tree-root. How disappointing! Her try on this wonderful spot must be foregone. She ventured one cautious backward step, but a twig snapped under her foot, and the intruder, almost as startled as herself, turned quickly.

"Oh!" exclaimed Nancy. Her heart was thudding. "I didn't dream—I mean, Matt, I—I thought . . ."

She paused, for Matthew had sprang up, an unsmiling Matthew, who said, curiously, she noticed, as he came toward her: "Is it you, Nancy, or—or am I dreaming? No, I'm not crazy!" (He smiled a little.) "But I've been lying here for an hour or more wishing I had the power of Aladdin, so I could rub my lamp and—make you appear before me just like this! Is—is it real?"

Nancy thought, her mouth curving in a smile: "What other fellow in the world would say a thing like that?"

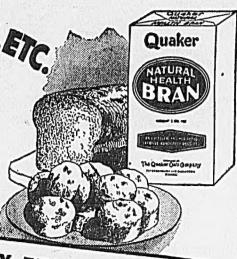

Then with a sudden impulse she stretched out both hands.

"Touch me, and see!"

Food For Thought In Child's Question
About Speed

The wisest sayings often come out of the mouths of children. A man mated with his family in the country and discussing with his wife the present-day craze for speed and the disastrous results that so often follow excess of a reasonable rate of travel was interrupted by his little daughter's question:

"So I'm not good enough for Mattie Adam?"

School Teacher Finds Them Handy

For Sending Messages Home

Each Sunday afternoon homing pigeons fly into the yard of Martin Tucker of Wakefield, Mass., bringing the glad tidings that his school teacher daughter, Gladys, arrived safely in South Hampton, N.H.

Miss Tucker, who spends every weekend with her family found the telephone too expensive and the mails too slow. Homing pigeons, a hobby of her father, solved the problem.

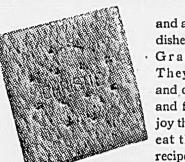

The pigeons return to the Tucker home in much less time than it takes for Miss Tucker to drive to South Hampton.

Many of the farmers of Eastern Canada who fed Western lambs during the 1934-35 winter under the Dominion Lamb Feeding Project are placing increased repeat orders, in many cases asking for double the number of lambs they fed a year ago. The applications, particularly from Quebec and Ontario, reflect the abundant supplies of hay, grain, silage, and other crops in Eastern Canada.

The Strike Weapon

Farm strikes marked the depression, an unusual feature. Previous depressions saw farmers hold protests meetings and resolute against conditions but never before have the agrarians chosen labor's weapon to enforce demands.

Right now a strike of dairy farmers is in progress in the Chicago milk shed. Farmers are getting 2½ cents a quart for their choicest milk delivered in bottles. The public pays 10 cents. Farmers want an average of 3½ cents a quart for the product, including the best and lowest grades. Distributors say they have to cut milk wagon drivers' wages from $40 a week if they pay more to farmers. Milk drivers say $40 a week is too low and won't take a cut. The strike is three weeks old and physical conflict, overturned milk tanks, etc., mark its progress.

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good." While Albertans generally were complaining of the cold weather of the past week, residents of the Castor district had reason to thank King Winter for his early arrival.

During the cold spell 400 ducks were frozen in the farm pond of Chester Reid at Rosetta, near Castor.

Mr. Reid drove his team to the pond, hoisted the frozen ducks in sleighs with a pitch fork and drove away to visit his neighbors.

The result was a multitude of duck dinners in the district.

Edmonton Notes

EDMONTON, Alta.—The Alberta government has been spending much of its time and labor off in the various departments of the civil service to the consolidation and reduction of overhead costs which it deems needful because the provincial government can no longer afford the salaries of several heads of departments which has marked this phase of the work of the administration. Premier Aberhart has indicated that this feature of the reorganization plan is a feature of the type of economy which is necessary.

In one or two cases appointments have been made but in some instances the branches of government have been merged with others, necessitating the dropping of several offices. It is a matter of the understanding, but patience and confidence that it is all being done for the people's good is urged by the ministers.

Reorganizing the insurance branch which comes under the department of Hon. E. Manning, provincial secretary, necessitated the dismissal of Henry Brace, superintendent of insurance and provincial fire commissioners. The minister, Premier Aberhart, said the government is considering a plan to carry its own insurance on its buildings. The insurance charges are much too high for the type of building which the government owns.

A proposal is being considered to lay aside part of the money paid on insurance each year in a fund which will thus be gradually increased until it is able to carry all the government's insurance risks, including a saving to the services. The sum paid annually for insurance now is $40,000.

CF interest to country points was the announcement this week that 15 districts agricultural areas in Alberta will be put into U.S.A. government will be dismissed. There was no provision made in the estimates for the payment of these agents and to continue their services would mean a loss of nearly $30,000 per year for the year, the premier explained. This sum would include the cost of cars which were bought for these men to enable them to carry on their activities.

What the new work the world would be carried on, Premier Aberhart said: "There will be sufficient staff left to carry on. Of course, there will be to some reorganization."

The work of all agriculturists under the department of agriculture under the new government has been confined very largely to promoting success in marketing various districts.

Premier Aberhart intimated that similar appointments have been made in other departments and the government is looking into the matter, so there may be other dismissals.

A change in the public press made by W. R. Howes, K.C., M.A., Liberal leader, that Premier Aberhart is steps from his promise to establish Social Credit and pay basic dividends, brought a reply from Premier Aberhart who said he had no intention of ever giving a basic dividend of $25 a month to each resident in Alberta. Why does he not tell people the truth?

Premier Aberhart replied: "The government is more anxious than ever to do no more as soon as possible in paying basic dividends, which was a main plank of the Social Credit platform. Our position has not changed a bit."

Another point of interest in governmental news at Edmonton to the country points as well as the urban districts was the announcement by the premier that bad road conditions and the dilapidated condition of the road clearing equipment will make it impossible for the government to clear the snow off the highways beyond points reached last year. Main trunk highways will be kept open, but local roads will be closed.

The premier said that the equipment has been working since the recent snowfall on 24-hour shifts and it cannot stand up against that strain. It is being torn down, the cost of any new equipment in the way of labor and trucks seems to have been made for at least five years."

An announcement by the government that it was planning to abolish all liquor control boards in Alberta, and since brought from publishers of weekly papers and a delegation of publishers, headed by H. C. Thimann, of the Viking News, and H. G. McCrea, of the Star, that the premier had agreed to delay in putting the bill into effect until after the election of Mr. Aberhart's government.

Mr. Aberhart promised the delegation of newspapermen that the abolition of liquor advertising will be postponed, at least.

Mr. R. J. Major, Montreal attorney and engineer, who is studying the province's finances and administrative methods with a view to putting it on a sound business basis, says he thinks the new government will be in office next year. He is the man who called in the Newfoundland government to help it to straighten out its financial problems when bankruptcy faced that dominion about a year ago.

The regular annual meeting of the Chinook W. I. will be held at Mrs. Milligan's home on Wednesday, Dec. 4th at 2:30 P.M.

A. M. Rideout.
Sec'y.

To Mr. Aberhart

Nothing is more interesting now-a-days than the political news of Alberta, and the latest news says that Premier Aberhart is making preparations to call for registration for the basic dividend under the Social Credit plan. He has told the members of the Legislature that the nature of it is to be equal to the value of $25 a month to every voting citizen of Alberta, and perhaps—but we do not know whether this is true or not—it is a proportional allowance also for children. The registrations, we suppose, will be for the purpose of establishing in an orderly manner the eligibility of persons to receive the basic dividend.

It is to be remembered that Alberta is the statutory law of Alberta. It is reasonable to suppose that the members of the Legislature will have to pass a bill to implement what the premier has indicated that he will call for his Social Credit plan.
